

Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by RVREVO - 09 Feb 2016 07:34

In the morning of the 8th of February 2016 completed my DB5 parts works 1/8th scale model at last.

Sadly my Mum passed away in the afternoon the same day.

This is for Mum.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by TheRollerman - 09 Feb 2016 08:02

Oh Richard, so sorry to here this, our parents are our rock to lean on in troubled times and when they move further on to a higher place, we know it is now up to us to find our way in life.

That is a nice gesture and I am sure She appreciates that and the model must never be sold because it now means so much to you.

Rollerman.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by Andy66 - 09 Feb 2016 12:05

Sorry to hear your sad news.

The finished Aston looks great .

Regards

Andy

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by RoutemasterNL - 09 Feb 2016 12:43

I am ever so sorry Richard, my sincere condolences to you and all your family.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by Nobleco - 09 Feb 2016 13:17

Richard, I and my wife offer you sincere condolences. I know how much she ment to you and I am very happy the pictures of my flower garden in the past years brought her some joy. You told me how she liked to see them.

That Car is now very special as Kevin says and I agree. One for the keeper shelf and to be much loved and cared for.

Times like this are tough and they test us in ways we can not always see. She was your rock and has played a large part in who and what you are. Cherish the memories my friend. We feel for you too.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by Dinkydi - 10 Feb 2016 06:46

Very sorry to hear this Richard, I sympathise with you because I lost my mum last April and I know how it feels.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by Teebodk - 10 Feb 2016 07:13

My heartfelt condolences go out to you, Richard. On our paths through life we will inevitably lose people close to us, but few, if any losses can compare to that of the one who gave us life.

So in a way it is very fitting, that it was such a huge, prominent and beautiful model that became the monument for your mother. May she rest in peace.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by Tick - 10 Feb 2016 11:46

Deepest sympathies to you and your family but on a happier note, the car looks amazing

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by Ecclesley - 10 Feb 2016 12:57

I wish you strength Richard in these utter difficult moments of your life.

Gerrit.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by dinkyjay - 10 Feb 2016 14:02

A very sad time for you and your family Richard, my condolences to go out to you and your family.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by GunnerJim - 10 Feb 2016 17:12

We send our condolences from Australia to you and your family Richard.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by Keesie - 11 Feb 2016 16:28

So sorry to hear that Richard. All has been said by others but I heard it is best to celebrate that your loved one was with you all the time, instead of grieving for one's death.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by CorgiCrossEyed - 12 Feb 2016 07:12

That's sad news Rvrepo.

I'm very sorry for your loss.

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by DINKYBOY - 12 Feb 2016 18:15

RICHARD MY CONDOLENCES AND PRAYERS FOR YOU AND YOUR FAMILY.

dinkyboy

=====

Re: Aston Martin DB5 completed on a very sad day

Posted by RVREVO - 13 Feb 2016 05:05

Thank you so much for your kind words.

It's been almost a week and she will be cremated on Monday.

Already there is crazy friction as family raid my comfort zone where I used to share most of my time watching movies and Star Trek with Mum.

Her collections of books are being taken off shelves and unceremoniously dumped. Her clothes and ling are raided from cupboards and I watch as the life I build up with mum is being destroyed.

Sometimes I wonder why it could not have been Dad instead? That might still happen too.

Why could my sister nit wait after the funeral. The rift we had is getting bigger. I feel they are invading everything.

They are doing what that wants... that is not necessarily the correct course of action.

One of my songs that I dedicate to Mum is Wish You Were Here by Pink Floyd. There is another one aswell, but at this time this is my trigger.

As usual my brother calms me down.

Thank you all

=====