

latest arrival

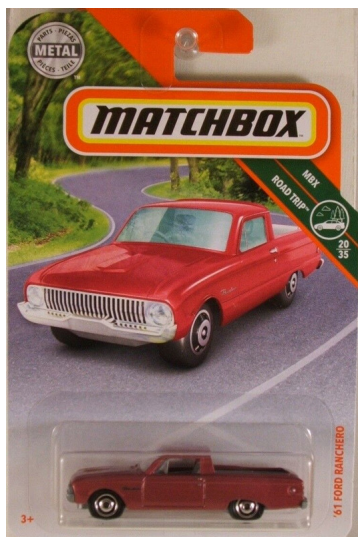

Posted by amarsden5 - 22 Sep 2010 22:02

Ford Tractor no 39 on 1972 card

Re: latest arrival

Posted by amarsden5 - 03 Jan 2020 10:23

Re: latest arrival

Posted by amarsden5 - 03 Jan 2020 10:24

Re: latest arrival

Posted by Nobleco - 03 Jan 2020 17:23

That BMW is a classic and well sought after here in Canada. The styling goes on you. When it first came out in 1969, the year I graduated high school, I thought it was an ugly car. it grows on you after a while.

The forgot the vertical bars in the grille for the Ford Ranchero. The Nissan looks stubby but looking at the real one online it also looks stubby. Funny little truck.

=====
Re: latest arrival

Posted by GunnerJim - 05 Jan 2020 07:26

I like this old Ford Ute.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by Dinkydi - 05 Jan 2020 07:52

The Ranchero is different to the Australian Falcon Ute, the door is longer and the car is longer behind the rear wheels.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by RoutemasterNL - 05 Jan 2020 13:25

Stunning finds! That BMW is the best. My best friend's father had a 1602 in orange. He was so proud of it.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by GunnerJim - 05 Jan 2020 20:58

Yes Dinkydi. They are just about completely different as the Australian Falcon was designed at Product Engineering annexe in Geelong. The only three USA Falcon the engineers and designers used were those test and drive vehicles in the USA. Ours were designed and built in Australia while plans and full scale Cub pattern design model was approved by the Ford Motor Company America. Cheers keep safe.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by 143Madness - 06 Jan 2020 01:58

RoutemasterNL wrote:

Stunning finds! That BMW is the best. My best friend's father had a 1602 in orange. He was so proud of it.

Been driven in a Green 2002 before belonging to my friends mum and I remember no seat belts in the back of that and brown seats I think, probably vinyl covered.

She also had a very rotten yellow spares car always on the drive of her courtyard driveway.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by amarsden5 - 08 Jan 2020 05:02

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by Nobleco - 08 Jan 2020 06:33

Nice to see they do come of the classic British cars. this Jag XK 140 is a classic and a perfect example of British Automotive engineering at its best.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by Nobleco - 08 Jan 2020 06:34

I don't like the Biue tinted windscreen though.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by amarsden5 - 08 Jan 2020 06:44

I prefer a clear windscreen too and Mattel are still not chroming the grille or the bumpers

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by Nobleco - 08 Jan 2020 17:13

That is not right. I think they may be trying to save some money on these cars by not doing the plating. Kind of like Cheaping out!

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by GunnerJim - 08 Jan 2020 21:52

I think I agree with you Jim as some of the new releases just have that sort of cheapness about their quality.

=====

Re: latest arrival

Posted by amarsden5 - 08 Jan 2020 21:52

I cant understand Mattel, they chrome plate Hot Wheels parts which sell at a cheaper price and not Matchbox which sell here for $4 ! Maybe they pay their workers in Thailand more than those in Malaysia

=====