This was introduced pretty close to when the film was being shown in UK Cinemas.

Remember to have seen a model of the "pod";.

How many different models did exist?

There was not many items produced to actually tie-in with the film which made the Airfix kit quite unique, but in more recent times there are a number of smaller 'Cottage Industry' type companies making a few collectable models based on craft seen in the film.

I have a listing of models somewhere which I will try and find for you.
