You can tell by the shape of the grille its a Bugatti. The body looks like the T57S Atalante.

I saw this car in another thread. It was in a garage in England and went to Auction in Paris I believe. Original condition and had been there for something like 40+ years.

I believe Bburago had a couple of 1/24 scale Atalante's, or at least the odd racing version...

Yep, here it is.

Apparently only 17 were ever made. I had a Hot Wheels one as a kid and loved it.

I have painted a few Bugatti's including this one photo taken by Simon Ko at Pebble beach in 2007
