

Corgi Ford Car Transporter

Posted by peekay - 25 Jan 2018 11:24

Just got this transporter and it makes a nice display as is - but if possible I'd like to get replacement plastic mirrors, roof horns and exhaust stack. I've searched without success.

Hosted on Fotki

On the other side the chrome background for the "Corgi Cars" sign is pretty shabby. I think I could cover it with Bare Metal Foil but then I'd need the red transfers. Any ideas?

Hosted on Fotki

Re: Corgi Ford Car Transporter

Posted by Nobleco - 02 Feb 2018 21:21

This is the Ford Tilt Cab. There is a part at the front top of the grille that needs to come out to get the cab apart. Little silver plastic piece that says Diesel on it.

You can see from the picture below that there is forked prong that goes into the truck and holds it all together. that is what has to come out and if it breaks, you can't just glue it in. The complete interior and the lower part of the cab that the ladders are held in by are held in place by this clip.

the badge is the only thing I have seen. My wife has a Kinnaird car, but I don't have one of those. I have a Corgi Ford car transporter, but I don't have the

=====

Re: Corgi Ford Car Transporter

Posted by peekay - 03 Feb 2018 05:41

Thanks Nobleco, good to know. I have dental tools like yours - and I've seen the "diesel" badge for sale somewhere. I have three cars soaking in my paint-remover and these will be my "practice" restorations - then the truck. Actually just the cab, the rest is not too bad.

=====

Re: Corgi Ford Car Transporter

Posted by Nobleco - 03 Feb 2018 12:44

Your welcome, glad I could help. Looking forward to your first efforts.

=====

Re: Corgi Ford Car Transporter

Posted by misterpop - 05 Jul 2021 12:45

Re the Diesel badge holding the cab together.. I have never stripped one of these before. Thank you so much for that I had been scratching my head all morning trying to get that apart..Ian.

Oh plus...Where is the search box on Planetdiecast?

=====

Re: Corgi Ford Car Transporter

Posted by Nobleco - 05 Jul 2021 16:40

Ian: Top Right you see your user name. Click the drop down arrow and then Settings. In there look for Preferences on the right near the top of the page. On the left you will see selections in the black boxes. Hover over the top one Forums and then slide right and down to Forum Search second from the bottom. Click that and you have it.

=====