

What Paper Models are YOU wanting?

Posted by pdmccool - 21 Apr 2009 18:53

During a recent e-mail conversation with an acquaintance of mine, we discussed what types of subjects are available as paper models. I had to say that there were very few models available in plastic that couldn't be found in paper and, in fact, I'd found many more subjects offered as paper models than I'd ever seen in plastic. So, my question is, what kinds of subjects would you like to see as paper models? Sci-Fi, Aircraft, Automotive, Armor, Real Spacecraft, give me specifics of what you'd like, and I'll bet we can find them offered online and share them with the group.

Paul M.

=====

Re: What Paper Models are YOU wanting?

Posted by rglater - 24 May 2014 15:27

This site has many models but not too many vehicles weighted more to aircraft.

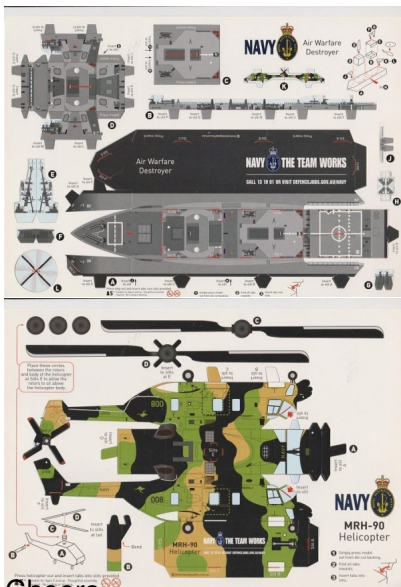

www.fiddlersgreen.net/

=====

Re: What Paper Models are YOU wanting?

Posted by GunnerJim - 24 May 2014 17:07

This is an old blog Richard. Anyway I picked up a couple of cutouts from the Australian Navy.

Re: What Paper Models are YOU wanting?

Posted by RVREVO - 24 May 2014 17:24

it was Patrick who brought it forward first jim.

Re: What Paper Models are YOU wanting?

Posted by pat-0352 - 24 May 2014 17:47

Thx for your help in finding interessting links, problem is that

Www.craftcave.net doesn't work, maybe we will have the chance to find another.

Greets

Patrick

=====

Re: What Paper Models are YOU wanting?

Posted by RVREVO - 24 May 2014 21:37

didn't have time to make a list and this is quite an old post. surprised the other photos are still there.

=====