

Help from Australian (Hobart) collector wanted !

Posted by Corky - 19 Apr 2020 08:31

Hello !

I have spotted a model from an Australian ebay seller.

But he only want a local pick-up.

Please contact me if you could pick-up such a model for me.

Thanks.

Good news.

The seller has accepted my offer and will send it to me.

That's good news, a lot of sellers are changing their postage ways to help with the current situation, although times for delivery are sometimes longer.

Yes, me too.

Good thing he decided to take your offer and post it for you. It will take longer and you just have to make sure your postal system is taking mail from there. Some countries are refusing overseas mail due to the virus. I have a huge list from our post office. Even Denmark is not taking international mail up til recently.

Good to have it mailed as Hobart, on Tasmania, is a bit of a drive even for GunnerJim in Geelong gut he is probably the closest.

Thank you all.

I will show you that gem.
