Very interesting even if it is a copy it would be great in any Dinky Collection.

IF people use the Quick Reply on the bottom right this won't happen.

Theo, you need to take out the junk after the link when you click on it. Above is the proper link.

And no editing as that puts the HTML into the post even if you originally used the Quick Reply button.

Jim - many thanks for sorting out the link - I should have spotted the junk at the end of Theo's link.

Had a good look at the drawing and, as has been said, even if it is a copy it would grace any collection. For me, being a late issue July 1976, it somehow lacks the attraction that a pre 1964 issue would have. But then that's just me.

Hugh

ps always use the quick reply now.
