

Another batch of cars from a fellow collector

Posted by RoutemasterNL - 31 Jan 2021 10:52

Yesterday I picked up a bunch of cars from a fellow collector who lives a few blocks away. He has to stop collection due to health issues. I already sold a batch of other cars for him, this time his collection of Corvettes and a small part of his military diecast are up. Most of the Corvettes are 1/18 Bburago ones. There is also a Joustra tinline tower crane and some Atlas Military models, but these have to be photographed

Theo, I know SF sells the keys for Minic Toys which have a triangle shaped handle and also has another key which has a butterfly handle. Not sure if Rob sells them but probably. That is assuming it is a square hole key.

Also, Steve Flowers is back open again as of Feb 10 so that is good news, I also got my order from Jan 1 the day before yesterday and it is all on the store now.
