

My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Code3_Customs - 20 Jul 2012 18:31

here's some I did last month (June)...

Dinky Rover

Matchbox Bedford TK "Danish" Bacon Truck (with replacement Red rear door)

I'll add more later...

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Nobleco - 31 Aug 2012 22:23

You certainly keep busy with these dinky toys. Love the work and the colors too. Thanks for showing.

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Code3_Customs - 22 Sep 2012 19:42

Back from 2 weeks away in sunny Menorca...

before I start back with the customs I need to tidy... clear... straighten up and organize the work space and try to keep things in order... (for a while any way)... I think my work space is just a mirror of what's in my head... a mass of ideas with 20

odd things going on at once with another 50 odd part built in progress code

3's... (some of which I know will never be finished)

here's a few more from August 2012

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Teebook - 22 Sep 2012 20:23

I know I'm repeating myself, but your code 3s are really stunning - they look like genuine vintage creations that might as well have been made "if only...";

Could you, perhaps, list the base models used for your conversions? It would be a lot easier to look them up and compare.

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Nobleco - 23 Sep 2012 00:21

Dinky Riley, Dinky Jag? not sure about the tanker. Dinky Chevy El Camino and an oldsmobile by dinky, 1962?.

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Hupps93 - 23 Sep 2012 09:42

Lovely work all of them, that Foden Steamer is brilliant. I've done a fair few recovery conversions of them in the past, but for some reason never thought to do one in a works livery! Hats off to you! Elijah

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Code3_Customs - 27 Sep 2012 20:40

thank you all for your comments...

here's a few more from August 2012

a shortened MB71 Matchbox Ford Heavy Wrecker... Cook County Police

Matchbox MB24 Boller as a camper

Matchbox MB15 Diamond T as a Wrecker

Matchbox MB64 Scammell Heavy Wrecker

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by GunnerJim - 27 Sep 2012 21:54

You definitely do a terrific custom builds and that Rolls looks like it might be a winner.

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by frame69 - 28 Sep 2012 05:38

Sterling work there. Perhaps a few pics in 'pictures of your workshop' somewhere on here. I've scrapped my under the stairs workspace as it was too dark even with lighting.

Cheers,Frame.

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by RVREVO - 28 Sep 2012 05:59

LOL a campy roller

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by DINKYBOY - 30 Sep 2012 12:10

CODE3_Customs, They all are well done. "LOOKS FACTORY TO ME"

□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□

dinkyboy

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Code3_Customs - 02 Oct 2012 19:50

it's time for a couple more from August 2012...

MB51a Matchbox Albion Chieftain Cab made in to an 8 Wheeler using the MB20b ERF rear section... but still as a Portland Cement Truck

Corgi Batmobile as a White Hearse... (Imade a black one a while back...)

Matchbox MB15h Rotinoff Tank Transporter... a change from the Scammell

Matchbox (MB20) Cab as I have for a Green Ford Taxi With Silver Hand MBs fitted... also I made the

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by RoutemasterNL - 03 Oct 2012 01:31

Well done, love the Rotinoff !

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by GunnerJim - 03 Oct 2012 09:36

I think that Batmobile Criterion is Superior creation and Dinky should have thought of it years ago.

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Teebodk - 03 Oct 2012 11:12

Your work is really magnificent as always and your sense of humor shines through... the Rolls Royce camper and now the Batmobile hearse... and wasn't it you who also made a Reliant Robin in Batman-livery with Robin at the wheel some time ago?

=====

Re: My Recent Code 3 Customs

Posted by Code3_Customs - 08 Oct 2012 20:07

Teebodk wrote:

Your work is really magnificent as always and your sense of humor shines through... the Rolls Royce camper and now the Batmobile hearse... and wasn't it you who also made a Reliant Robin in Batman-livery with Robin at the wheel some time ago?

I did this one back in March 2012...

=====