I have moved this into the proper place for it as it is an ad for something on eBay.

If you want to advertise your cars here you should be doing it on the Market Place. It is not really fair to those selling on the MP to be advertising sales on eBay here. You can start up a tread and talk about your car and then mention that it is also up for sale on eBay but to advertise like this is not right, to me anyway. Any of the Admin want to jump in on this?

I am not really sure what you are trying to do here. If your trying to sell it, you should be in the Market Place and list it there. Otherwise it would be nice of you to tell us a bit about this toy as it looks really nice.
